【Dazu Rock Carvings Scenic Area】, also known as the Dazu Rock Carvings World Heritage Park or Baodingshan Rock Carvings Scenic Area, is a tourist destination located in Baoding Town, Dazu District, Chongqing Municipality. Its core area covers 1,100 mu (approximately 73 hectares). It was inscribed on the UNESCO World Heritage List in 1999.

The Dazu Rock Carvings is a general term for the grotto temples and cliffside sculptures within Dazu District. It represents a large group of rock carvings that integrate statues from the three belief systems of Confucianism, Buddhism, and Taoism. The Baodingshan Rock Carvings Scenic Area primarily features the carvings on Mount Baoding. It also includes ancient temples over a thousand years old, such as the Shengshou Temple and Guangda Temple, as well as cultural exhibition venues and shopping areas like the Dazu Rock Carvings Museum, the Old Street, and the Song Dynasty-style Street. It is a distinctive cultural World Heritage site that combines sightseeing, tourism, and vacation experiences.

The Baodingshan Rock Carvings Scenic Area exhibits several distinctive characteristics. First, the themes of its thousands of statues are never repetitive. The individual niches and caves possess both an internal connection in religious doctrine and a formal continuity with each other, comprehensively presenting religious teachings, principles, practices, and outcomes. Second, the content and artistic techniques of the carvings strive for realism and connection to daily life. For example, the illustrations based on the Sutra on the Importance of Repaying Parental Kindness, the Herding Bulls pictures, the Girl Playing a Flute, and the scene of Drunkenness are all vividly portrayed and rich in educational significance. The sculpting techniques pay great attention to formal beauty and the beauty of artistic conception. Particularly noteworthy is the Thousand-Armed Guanyin, whose 1,007 hands, with their bending, stretching, separating, and joining in a seemingly irregular yet harmonious formation, resemble the shimmering tail of a peacock in full display. It is renowned as a "Marvelous Spectacle under Heaven."
